

Spring Summer Collection 2014

For spring summer 2014, Pin1876 proposes a collection of super light scarves made from sophisticated and almost impalpable materials. Shapes studied to be uncumbersome so they can be worn in summer too, over a light shirt, a smart suit or a simple t-shirt.

Pin1876 has created a collection that lets you personalise your look to your heart's desire. A scarf is all you ever need to be impeccable.

The brand's classic fabrics, like cashmere and silk, are joined by new blends of linen, cotton and silk. The scarves have a much more unstructured look and the weaves are much airier, giving this passport item a unique sense of weightlessness.

Colour continues to be one of the company's points of strength. The basics range from turquoise, blue and green at their most exotic, reminiscent of tropical isles, to the more urban tones of grey, white and neutrals. All set off by unexpected chromatic exclamations in acid red, green and yellow, alternating with soft, pastel colours.

Pin1876 has created a garment to wear year round, one to rediscover in town and take away on holiday. Today scarves are as much a part of a wardrobe as ties are of a suit. The one is unthinkable without the other. A touch of sophistication, purposely a tad dreamy, that brings personality and charisma to its wearer, even when the temperature rises and we start to get ready for the holidays.
